DETAILED ACTION

Claims included in the prosecution are 1-2.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for carbamate linkages, does not reasonably provide enablement for several connector molecules claimed. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. Instant specification does not adequately disclose what the connector compounds are, how they are activated to connect the two compounds to produce the claimed cationic lipids. The examples in the specification show only carbamoyl linkages.

2. Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The examiner suggests, 'wherein the connector chemically linking CH and N moieties of the said structure S of cationic lipid', at the end of claim 1 after reciting the connector moieties. The examiner also suggests the deletion of "Structure S of cationic lipids for claim 1" on line 4 of claim 1 and just recite "S" besides or under the structural formula.

Art Unit: 1615

'any other ingredient' in claim 2 is indefinite since as pointed out above, it is not a positive expression. The examiner suggests reciting specific compounds. It is unclear as to what applicant intends to convey by 'for activity or other technical reasons'.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Schneider et al (6,268,516).

Schneider et al disclose instant cationic compounds for liposomal gene transfer (columns 1 and 2).

Double Patenting

5. Claims 1-2 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1-2 of copending Application No. 10/686,374. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because claims in both applications recite the same cationic compound and containing another ingredient added to the delivery system. In instant claims, compounds with some of the R1 substituents read on compounds of the structural formula recited in the claims of copending application and therefore, anticipated by the claims in the said copending application.

Art Unit: 1615

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
